SOMETHING ABOUT EDMONTON

W. G. Trethewey, of Montreal, the owner of the Grout estate, is in Edmonton this week regarding business an connection with his interests here. There is no doubt that the Canadian Pacific Railway will build the high level bridge between Edmonton and Strathcona. They are bound to get into Edmonton immediately, and realize that this is the only way. D. McNicoll, general manager and second vice president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, will arrive in Edmonton in his private car within a day or two and it is generally believed that he comes to definitely locate the site of the high level bridge. About as soon as one Canadian Pacific railway magnate returns east from visiting Edmonton in his private car, another one sets out for here. It is with a sort of secret satisfaction that we make note of these evidences of the great future in store for Edmonton. A movement is being made by the Edmonton city council to get the railway authorities to join with the town in constructing a traffic bridge in connection with the railway bridge. In Montreal, Mr. Trethewey says, there is the greatest interest taken. In speaking to prominent representatives of all the railroads operating in Canada, Mr. Trethewey had been advised to get to Edmonton at any price. High officials of the Grand Trunk Railroad and the Canadian Pacific railroad, have all invested very extensively in Edmonton town property. "There is going to be one big city between Winnipeg and the mountains," said a prominent Canadian Pacific railway official to Mr. Trethewey, "and that is Edmonton." The Grand Trunk Pacific authorities have informed him that once their bill finally passes the House, several thousand men will be immediately sent to Edmonton, several thousand to Winnipeg, and the main line between Winnipeg and Edmonton will be rapidly pushed through and got in working order. There will be no dilly dallying with railroad construction by the Grand Trunk Pacific, large forces of men will be put on the work, and the very greatest possible progress made with construction. Edmonton has waited long and waited impatiently, but now everything is coming our way. The day of small things for Edmonton is passed, and she is entering on the threshold of a mighty growth, which will ultimately result in making her the great city of the great Northwest.

LOCAL

—The train is thirty minutes late.

—Colin Fraser has sold all his furs. They netted him over $30,000.

Mr. Arthur Mowat, son of the late Sir Oliver Mowat, is spending a few days in Edmonton.

—There will be a practice of the Edmonton cricket club this evening at 7.30. All members are asked to turn out, in view of a match for Saturday.

—The Woodmen of the World meet in their hall this evening when the Post Clerk of Niagara will take the chair. Visitors are welcome.

—The offer of a part of the Grout property to the town of Edmonton for park purposes made by W. G. Trethewey, of Montreal, the owner of the property, still remains open for acceptance.

—The washout on the Calgary and Edmonton railway was between Crossfield and Airdrie. About two and a half inches of rain fell and quite a large stretch of track was washed out. However trains are running regularly today.

—A very bad hole has existed for some time on the Fort Saskatchewan trail near Mr. A. Rosse's farm in the Agricola settlement. Formerly teams had to go about a mile around owing to the state of the road at this point. However, road overseer M. Hanlan secured money for the improvement of the road and has had it graded up. Teams may now use this trail and find a good road.

Canadian Northern

The announcement was made a few days ago that the Canadian Northern would aid in carrying this year's crop out of the Edmonton district by extending the Edmonton, Yukon and Pacific railway up the hill to the site of the present Canadian Northern station. This is very gratifying news to settlers on the north side of the river, who will be saved the time and expense of the extra haul to Strathcona, as formerly was imperative. The right-of way through the Easton property will be definitely settled within a few days, as will also that through the Grout estate. Rails and ties are now being loaded at Port Arthur for shipment to Edmonton, and the steel will be immediately laid from the end of the present track below the hill. Work will proceed on the completion of the grading and on the laying of the steel simultaneously. The track will be definitely completed to the station site north of the city this fall.

As soon as the right of way through the Easton property is settled and the track extended, gravel pits will be opened up on the site of the present golf grounds and the railroad between Edmonton and Strathcona will be ballasted and put in first-class condition. The reason why things have been so unsatisfactory on this line of late is that as there has been no possible access to gravel pits without passing through the Easton property, no ballast could be obtained for the road. However, this difficulty will soon be overcome and the line put in good working order.

Plans for the new station have not yet arrived in Edmonton, but have already been drawn up and approved of. Excavation for the new station will be made this fall, material will be laid on the ground during the winter, and building operations will commence early in the spring. The station will be built on a large scale and will be made worthy of Edmonton's ultimate future as a railway centre.

Investing in Edmonton

H. B. Spencer, general manager of the western division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Ottawa, and Mr. Spencer's brother-in-law, Dr. Struthers, of Sudbury, spent yesterday in Edmonton. There is an old saying that Canadian Pacific Railway officials never invest wrongly. Both Mr Spencer and Dr. Struthers invested in Edmonton real estate and there is no doubt in the world but that they have done this acting on private information respecting the intentions of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Spencer says definitely that he has been throughout the west and Edmonton is the only point where he has cared to invest in property. He is confident of the future of Edmonton and says that the townspeople of Edmonton will see a development here within the next two years that will far exceed their most sanguine expectations.

Regarding the high level bridge Mr. Spencer said that of course he would not speak authoritatively, but that most certainly the Canadian Pacific Railway would enter Edmonton as soon as possible. A start will be made this fall and the bridge will be completed during the coming winter. Regarding the probable situation of the bridge, Mr. Spencer said that he could say nothing definite. Suffice to say that D. McNicoll, general manager of the C. P. R. will be in Edmonton within a few days and he will definitely locate the site.

Elevators For Edmonton

Some few days ago the announcement was made in the Bulletin that two different parties were about to erect grain elevators at the site of the new Canadian Northern Railway station in Edmonton. Some doubting Thomases about town remarked that it was very unlikely that any steps would be taken to build the elevators this fall. Further inquiry reveals the fact that not only two elevators will be built, but four. The Brackman-Ker Elevator company, N. Bawlf, Winnipeg; J. West of the Yukon, a recent arrival in Edmonton, and John Ross & Company, Edmonton, have all leased elevator space from the Canadian Northern and have announced their intentions of undertaking immediate construction. The Brackman-Ker Company are well and favorably known in Northern Alberta. Mr. Bawlf, Winnipeg, is a prominent grain man of Manitoba, while Mr. Ross has already had extensive experience in the grain business in Edmonton. Mr. West, although a new comer to Edmonton, is well-known as a Yukon capitalist. He has extensive interests on the Pacific coast and will operate his elevator in connection with his interests already firmly established there. The Brackman-Ker Company have ordered the machinery for their new elevator and it is now on the way to Edmonton. The other grain men have doubtless taken the same steps.

The elevator sites are on the north of the station yards. Between sidings and main line roads, there will be twenty-one tracks in the yards. A road will run diagonally from the head of Second street, touching the ends of the railway sidings, to the elevator sites. It is being said that it would be advisable to extend this road out to the St. Albert trail and thus make it much more convenient for farmers in the Stony Plain and St. Albert districts to reach the elevators on their way to town, instead of coming into the city and then back to the elevators. The land reserved for warehouse sites is on the south side of the railway property.

OLDS

Oracle, August 21st.

Business is booming along the C. & E. line. This was demonstrated on Wednesday, when no less than fifteen trains passed through Olds.

Olds has received a fair share of the invasion from the states this year. Up to date one hundred and eighteen cars of settlers effects have been unloaded here. And still they come.

A trip in the country just now will convince the most pessimistic person that the country is all right. Grain never looked better than at the present time. Oats and barley are almost ready to cut, in fact cutting has already commenced, and by the end of next week harvesting will be general. The weather has been good for haying during the past week and everybody is busy putting up feed. This year will be the best in many years for farmers. Alberta is alright.

Thos. W. Walker, wife and daughter had a narrow escape from drowning in the Red Deer on Sunday last. They left town on Sunday morning to visit friends across the Red Deer. The river was running very high, but several rigs crossed before Mr. Walker attempted it. He had got about half way across when his horse was swept off its feet and it was only after a desperate struggle that Mr. Walker got his wife and little girl safely to shore. Had he not been a strong swimmer all would undoubtedly have been drowned. The horse and rig have not been recovered.

The Baptist church is almost finished now and is a very neat structure. The work was done under the supervision of Mr. F. Krempein, and reflects much credit on him. The property, two lots, building and furnishings will cost $1,400.

Rev. Father Beaudry, O.M.I., is home on a visit to his father, Narcisse Beaudry.

Antoine Lirondel, jr., has moved into his new house on the C. P. R. quarter he bought last year.

Many of the farmers around here are wondering where they are going to get enough hay. Hay was never better than it is this summer, but the continued rains have filled up the sloughs with water. Of course there is plenty of time yet. Alberta is not like the east, where a man has about two weeks only during which his hay must be cut. We can cut our hay after harvest if we do not do so before, but now is the best time, when there is not much other work to do.

Berries of all kinds are very plentiful around Egg Lake this summer. In a single little bluff one may pick raspberries, eye-berries, high bush cranberries, saskatoons, two varetesii of cherries, and gooseberries, and a few yards away the ground is literally covered with blueberries.

Potatoes are going to be a fine crop this year. There has been great underground growth during the past two weeks, and now the hills are crowded with big, clean, solid potatoes that would make an Irishman forget all his troubles.

A heavy thunderstorm passed over Egg Lake last Wednesday night. Rain fell heavily for fifteen or twenty minutes, and in some places there was quite a bit of hail, but nothing to do any harm.

PROTEST MEETING

The minutes of the mass meeting called in Mananan schoolhouse Monday evening, the 17 inst. P. Bolan, overseer, occupied the chair. The object of the mass meeting called by the ratepayers of township 56-1-4, was on account of a road being surveyed through township 56-1-4 and to protest against the said road, as now surveyed, being put through. The ratepayers have frequently asked that the blind line be opened as a direct road between Whitford and Cucumber Lake.

The surveying party is now surveying a road, and no ratepayer seems to know anything about it, and as they constitute a local improvement district they do not desire having a road put through their farms after having them all fenced and partly under crop, especially since the blind line offers a direct and passable route.

W. Hughson moved, seconded by T. Nblock, that a petition be drafted to the Legislative Assembly at Regina, asking them not to put the road on said route now being surveyed. The motion was carried.

T. Nblock moved that the school trustees be asked to draft a petition to the board of education at Regina, asking that the road be surveyed on the blind line, the road now being surveyed cutting off all communication and travel to the school. The motion, after being seconded by T. Hall, was carried.

R. L. Hughson, seconded by G. W. Johnston, moved that the road overseer be instructed to not open the road now being surveyed until he receive a mandamus from the judge to do so. Carried.

R. L. Hughson, S. Paradis seconding, moved that R. Luttechild, S. A. Richardson and T. Hall be a committee to draft a petition to the commissioner of public works. Carried.

R. Stewart, W. J. Cinnamon seconding, moved that a road be opened from S.E. corner S. 36-16-4, through S 30-56-15 to connect line between S. 19 and 30-56-15, at or near Whitford post office. Carried.

W. Hughson, T. Albertson seconding, moved that a copy of the minutes of this meeting be sent J. W. Shera, M. L.A., the High Commissioner of Public Works and the press. Carried.

Moved to adjourn subject to call of Overseer P. Bolan.

T. HALL, Secretary.

SEEKING AID

Bohemia, a small country in Europe, and a protectorate of Austria, according to American and Bohemian newspapers has met with a national catastrophe which has rendered penniless six millions of people. A hailstorm, an unusual occurrence in that country, swept down and destroyed all the standing crops. Barnyard fowls and stock in the fields were knocked down and killed with the tremendous force of the immense hail stones. Many of the peasants houses were totally or in part destroyed by the storm. It can be readily understood that the storm has caused much hardship and suffering especially among the poorer classes. An appeal has been sent out to the civilized nations of the world for funds to aid the sufferers. Several residents in Edmonton from Bohemia are taking steps to collect voluntary subscriptions from all persons in Northern Alberta who might be willing to aid the sufferers. These gentlemen have requested the Bulletin to announce that subscriptions addressed to C. V. Semerad, Edmonton P. O., or left at the Bulletin office will be acknowledged and forwarded to the chief relief committee in Bohemia.

BEAVER LAKE WEST

Harvesting began here on the 17th, when Malcolm McCallum cut some volunteer barley and oats. Thus haysng and harvest are upon us almost at the same time, although much grain will not be cut before the first, even should the present fine weather continue.

R. H. Bradley, of this place, after serving his country in the Strathcona Horse joined his brother in a lumber business in West Virginia. Later on he visited the Pacific slope. Returning home a while since, he went out to his claim and found that the door of his house and some flooring had been stolen. The thieves are supposed to be Galicians, but the parties have not yet been definitely located. Mr. Cleland, who bought A. Verch's farm, also found that vandals had visited his new possession and partly dismantled the house. It is about time an example was made of some of these rascals. Surely the police haven't to be run up against them before they will make a move?

The lake is lower than it was a year ago, but the sloughs are higher.

W. H. Bell, of Edmonton, passed through with a bunch of horses on the 20th.

Our settlement will, I believe, be well represented at the Vegreville show on September 30th.

The Rev. Mr. Thornloe, of Tofield, exchanged pulpits with Mr. Rothney on the 16th.
